Junghans celebrates the classically elegant wristwatch with the new Meister fein Automatic Signatur

Classic elegance has a name: Junghans Meister fein Automatic Signatur, and its elegant design interprets traditional watchmaking in a contemporary way. It is the historical Junghans typeface that gives the watch its name, reminding us of the unique tradition of the Junghans watch factory. At the same time, the new creation stands for the reputable German watch brand's successful, lively present. This dress watch's dial is fascinating with its cool light grey or delicate but radiant ice blue hues. With the Meister fein Automatic Signatur, the modern gentleman is well dressed for every occasion – whether classically worn with a suit or fashionable leisure styling.

Elegant men's watches like the Meister fein Signatur continue to occupy a firm place in Junghans' collection. And this watch's name stands for purity, subtlety, and refinement, the determining factors in its appearance. The filigreed three-part case allows the watch to seem thinner than it already is with a narrow bezel surrounding the domed sapphire crystal that is antireflective on both sides, giving the watch's face a lot of room to unfold. The minimalistic, slightly domed dial follows the shape of the sapphire crystal, while slender baton hands follow the domed dial's curve to point to fine, diamond-cut hour markers. And a discreet date window takes its place elegantly within the pared-down design.

Elegant and comfortable

The Meister feyn Automatic Signatur combines elegance with a high degree of comfort, which is supported by the shape of the watch. Thanks to this shape and the flat construction, the Meister feyn Automatic Signatur conveniently slides under every sleeve. Short lugs and a seamless strap made of glove-quality soft leather with a finely adjustable buckle ensure comfort and non-slip placement on the wrist. The available straps match each of the dials: a contrasting black strap goes with the light grey dial, while a blue strap underscores the cool, modern character of the ice-blue dial variation.

Fine mechanics

An elegant watch full of character like the Meister feyn Automatic Signatur naturally needs a comparable movement, which is why Caliber J800.1 powers this watch. This movement's architecture can be admired through a window in the case back secured with four screws. The two-legged rotor manufactured just for Junghans is a real eye-catcher and energy deliverer for the automatic movement. Naturally, a classically elegant watch like the Meister feyn Automatic Signatur should also have stamina.
